

Painted turtles prefer living in freshwater that is quiet, shallow, and has a thick layer of mud. Painted turtles must eat in the water, their tongue does not move freely and they cannot manipulate food well on land.